

Two Aspects of Creation: Physical and Spiritual

A Reflection on Physical and Spiritual Creation

Reflections Covenant and Doctrine WhatsApp post, 6 May 2024

Science and religion have been at odds for centuries. Though I am neither a scientist nor an authority on religion, I have always wondered about this disconnect. When we look at God's creation, and at His relationship with man, we see a dual aspect to it. One is physical, the other spiritual. The physical world is explained through several branches of knowledge, revealed to us time and again, and we observe it in three dimensions. The spiritual aspect has no physical existence, yet its never-changing principles permeate the whole of creation.